SENATOR TYSON: Senator Abboud, I don't...if the gentleman involved, who is not here now, cares to identify himself, he may. I don't intend to do so.

SENATOR ABOUD: Do I have to subpoena the...to get the answer from you or something? (Laughter.) Set up a defense fund or something? Well, I knew it was Senator Landis. I was wondering whether or not you had...if there was any other parties on the other side as far as the members of the Business and Labor Committee or people that were actually involved in the issue. Did...?

SENATOR TYSON: I would say, Senator Abboud, that I have learned to my betterment or my grief, I'm trying to figure out which one, that it really hasn't paid to negotiate with members of the Business and Labor Committee.

SENATOR ABOUD: What about Senator Chambers? You certainly convinced him. He was willing to vote the bill out.

SENATOR TYSON: Pardon me, with some of the members of the Labor Committee. (Laughter.)

SENATOR ABOUD: You were only one vote short.

SENATOR TYSON: I'm going to...can I exempt Senator Dierks and Senator Schrock at the same time?

SENATOR ABOUD: Yes, you may.

SENATOR TYSON: Ego absolvo, opocatus tuis. In nomen battress...(inaudible).

SENATOR ABOUD: So you have this negotiation. And who was on the other side that you talked about that left the room that said they had to talk to an attorney? Was that...that was no...that was not a member...I didn't know if you were referring to a member of the committee or the Legislature that left that had to go talk to the high-priced attorney to clarify their position. That wasn't a member of the Legislature that left, was there?
